Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act requires Federal agencies to consider the effects of their actions on historic properties.

The Section 106 process also encourages the incorporation of historic preservation values into project planning through consultation among parties with an interest in the effects of the undertaking on historic properties. Because consultation is a dynamic good-faith process of discussing options, considering multiple views, and seeking agreement among a variety of parties, your regular attendance, active participation, and constructive comments will be expected throughout the process.

Please summarize your interest in historic properties as related to this project:

Northside is one of the oldest communities in the City of Cincinnati. Prior to construction of I-74 the community was comprised of two communities - S. Cumminsville and Northside, was named Cumminsville. Though I personally don't know the number of buildings or residential buildings lost to construction of I-74, reports indicate that an additional 200 buildings were demolished for a second highway - I-75 (Cincinnati Modified Expressway) which was "disbanded" in 2009. As a preservationist engaged in Northside's redevelopment, it is critical that the community not lose historically valuable structures or properties integral to the community's character.
